

MLSA x HackClub x DSEU

About Us

We are group of passionate makers and hackers who love making projects and solve practical problems and motivate others to learn new tools and technologies and share their journey with others. We are gaining experience from various student programs and currently we have Microsoft learn student ambassador and HackClub on board and with short span of time we will be in more programs!

Our Motto

We are utilising various methods of learning ranging from practical projects, hands-on learning, seminars, webinars and events. We want everyone to be aware of latest tools and technologies and implement them to make awesome projects and become professional individuals to become successful in various fields. We follow diverse and inclusive methods to provide equal opportunities to everyone!

What Powers Us?

MOTIVATION - yes this is the biggest factor to run technical community who is focussed on learning new skills and education whole community! We give huge thanks to Microsoft for providing opportunities and virtual support for events! Special thanks to HackClub for providing access to huge community of makers and providing virtual benefits and yes super exciting to mention - cool stickers also!

and many more to come...
